"Sean Mullen is not only one of the most talented digital Visual Efx artists I've ever worked with, but also one of the coolest guys to have around. During our recent project together, Sean's positive outlook certainly had a positive effect on everyone on the team. With a well-earned reputation around our Disney office for being the guy who always getting the job done 'right', Sean is definitely the kind of designer you want to call or build your Visual Efx team around. I look forward to working with him again in the very near future." February 7, 2010

"Not only is Sean the hardest working compositor/artist I've had the pleasure to work with, but is also the most thorough with meticulous attention to detail, as well as being extremely capable in all aspects of digital compositing from simple roto-scoping to huge complex multi-layered compositing and timeline editing. He has a true passion for the work and is also very creative, resourceful, inventive, and best of all ... fast! His talent and experience would qualify him to lead and manage projects as well as direct a VFX department. Another note is that he came out of the prestigious Full Sail media school and so has a firm grasp of the entire concept/pre-production/production/post-production process, which is invaluable in the visualizing and execution of any project. He also happens to be a great guy who is fun and easy to work with, but really gets down to business. I have learned a lot from him and recommend him completely with no reservations whatsoever." "Sean was instrumental in taking decent 3d renders and blending them seamlessly into television footage. The result was astonishing. On short budgets and time constraints, for his part, he made Tremors the TV series look good. I'm happy that the creatures I built were handled by such a talented team, with Sean adding the polish." "While I was managing the 3D department at Encore Visual Effects I had the pleasure of working in close proximity to Sean who was, at that time, one member of a top-notch, dedicated two man team using After Effects to do the majority of effects for the television series "Charmed" on a schedule and budget that was, to put it gently, tight. Coming from a features background I was constantly surprised at the ingenuity and quality that Sean and his co-worker were able to produce considering their almost comical deadlines. In addition to the quality of his work I was also impressed by Sean's maturity and professionalism considering his (then) relatively young age. And, to top it all off, Sean is a genuinely nice guy who brought a lot of humor and energy to the room which is a quality that is often overlooked when choosing someone for your team. Based on my past experience with Sean I would highly recommend taking a good look at him for your visual effects project." March 12, 2008

"Sean is one of the most intuitive artists I have ever worked with. His vast knowledge and experience are an invaluable resource to every project he approaches. Sean is the type of guy who seems to have a solution for any problem, artistic or technical. His creativity and ingenuity are surpassed only by his love for his craft. Every time I've ever worked with Sean I've had the deepest confidence in the result of the finished project. He has changed the way that I approach my work. Despite his myriad of talents, his most priceless assets are his work ethic and humor- in my view, the 2 most important characteristics in a team-oriented environment. He is simply a pleasure to work with." July 1, 2008

"Sean's experience, talent and creativity continue to be a vital resource at Digital Juice. Without Sean's passion, hard work and knowledge Digital Juice's VFX library would not have been possible. His years of Visual Effects experience in TV and film are a valuable resource to everyone that has the pleasure of working with him. Sean's show "Suite Effects" has inspired thousands of video editors, and is one of the most popular shows on DJTV. His show not only teaches the essentials of visual effects it entertains as well.
